

Cascade Clamp

Cascade Clamps - Established in Portland, Oregon in the year 1943, the Cascade Manufacturing Company began as a small machine shop hiring only four individuals. Total sales for that initial year amounted to about sixty thousand dollars. The very first recorded sales revenues involved the machining and assembly of stainless steel pipe fittings, valves and different components. Through 5 years of operation, the company had expanded to 40 staff and their yearly sales volume had increased to $330,000. At present, Cascade is among the top global makers within the material handling business.

Design and production of the company's initial hydraulic cylinder allowed this new business to aggressively engage in better business possibilities. All through the last sixty years, the industry of material handling has grown into a really advanced field with Cascade proudly playing a part in its growth. Cascade at present continues to grow as the premier supplier of forklift accessories and different related products. The business feels assured in their skill to be able to continue to lead the way in the business by understanding client's needs in the future and remaining competitive within the international market.

Throughout the nineteen fifties, Cascade began to fabricate, design, and advertise its hydraulic attachments. A new facility was made in 1956, to accommodate all of the plant offices and operations in Portland, Oregon, which continues to be the company's current headquarters. After fifteen years of business, total workers reached a hundred and eighty workers and sales had reached almost $2,300,000.

The next production plant was built in the year 1959 in Springfield, Ohio. The year 1960 marked Cascade's preliminary transfer into the global world of the material handling industry as the company recognized interest in England, Australia, and the Netherlands.

In 1964, the company changed its name to the Cascade Corporation. After that in 1965, the business went public with a preliminary offering of 200,000 shares of common stock. Since then the company has expanded its manufacturing services throughout the continental USA to the places Warner Robins Georgia to go along with its already current plants in Springfield, Ohio and Portland, Oregon. Cascade products are manufactured worldwide thanks to numerous subsidiary operations. In 1994, a new plant was accomplished in Almere, the Netherlands which is Cascade's European control center. This plant is made to be the ultimate customer support centre.

Continuing to grow, Cascade expanded their product offering further in the year 1996 and 1997 with the remarkable acquisition of 5 companies, together with the worldwide leader in blades, the Kenhar Corporation.
